The Florida State University Coastal & Marine Lab

Fourth Annual WFYB Regatta

Saturday
October 3rd, 2015
12PM - 3PM

Time for You to Rise to the Challenge!

WHATEVER FLOATS YOUR BOAT REGATTA

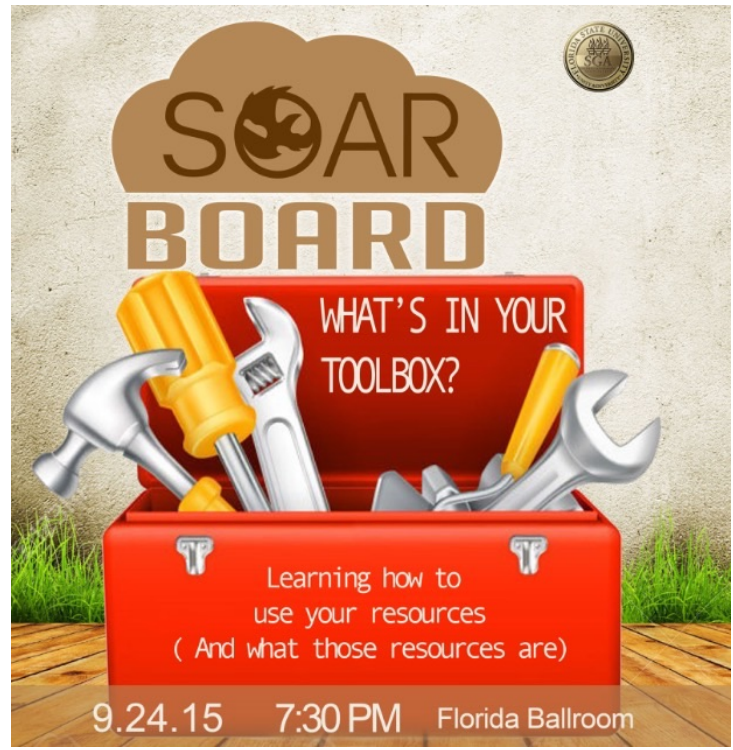

The Florida State University Coastal & Marine Laboratory invites you to build and race a vessel in the fourth Annual Whatever Floats Your Boat Regatta on October 3, 2015. Boats can be as artistic or as whacky as you'd like. The goal is just to stay afloat. Prizes include "First to Cross the Finish Line," "Most Creative Use of Materials," "People's Choice," and the "Titanic Award for the Most Spectacular Failure." Challenge your colleagues, family, friends, and neighbors to build a boat and join the fun. Landlubbers need not worry; there will be plenty of activities for you as well. Cheer on your friends, enjoy some great food, and learn about how to protect the world's oceans through recycling. The regatta will take place on Saturday, October 3 from 12:00pm to 3:00pm. Learn more and register here. For more information, contact Felicia Coleman at fc Coleman@fsu.edu or call at (850) 697-4120.

FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY® BLACK ALUMNI

BSU NATIONAL BLACK ALUMNI INC

The Florida State University (FSU) National Black Alumni, Inc. is an officially chartered affiliate of the FSU Alumni Association. The Association's mission is to build a network of Black alumni and friends and sustain meaningful relationships on behalf of FSU. The FSU National Black Alumni promotes and supports the academic achievement and excellence of Black students at FSU. Consequently, the FSU Black Alumni Scholarship Fund was established in the FSU Foundation to provide financial assistance to minority students of African descent. As part of its 2015 National Black Alumni Reunion, the FSU National Black Alumni will award $500 scholarships to three deserving students. One scholarship will be awarded in honor of Maxwell Courtney (first Black undergraduate student to attend and graduate from FSU), one will be awarded in honor of Dr. William R. Jones (Founder and first Director of the FSU Black Studies Program), and one is specifically designated for a student who is involved in the International Program or plans to study abroad. Interested students should complete the Scholarship Application, and briefly discuss their academic experiences and community involvement outside the formal classroom. Additionally, applicants must describe how they took a stand and were courageous in the face of injustice or a challenging situation, and how they used this as an opportunity to build social solidarity, encourage understanding, or broaden their academic experiences. If you have any questions, contact Cassandra Jenkins at dcs1028@embarqmail.com.

THE BIG EVENT

The Big Event is a one-day, student-run, service event that allows students, faculty, and staff to participate in service projects to give back to Florida State University and the Tallahassee community. The Big Event is looking for motivated individuals to apply as committee members to help plan, organize, and run the 2016 event. If you are interested in giving back to the community and getting more involved on campus, applications are available on our website at thebigevent.fsu.edu. For more information, please contact Director Taylor Selbach and Director Jen Lucas at thebigevent.director@gmail.com.

BIG BEND HOMELESS COALITION

Looking for a fun way to fine tune those culinary skills, build teamwork and foster leadership while also serving the community? Sign up for the Meal Volunteer Program (MVP) at HOPE Community to find the perfect place for you and your RSO! Contact Danielle Shultz at (850) 792-9426 or dshultz@bigbendhc.org for more info.

VOLUNTEER AT ST. FRANCIS WILDLIFE HOSPITAL!

St. Francis Wildlife Association is a non-profit organization, and was founded to provide humane care and rehabilitation for all species of sick, injured, and orphaned wildlife in North Florida and South Georgia. Each year, they receive and care for more than 3,000 animals. Volunteers are needed to work in the wildlife hospital at the St. Francis Wildlife Rehabilitation Center, located four miles northwest of Havana. It is just 25 minutes from downtown Tallahassee. They need volunteers to help feed many different types of animals, clean cages, and do dishes and laundry. They also need volunteers to build and fix cages, and transport animals from local vets to the St. Francis Wildlife hospital. Volunteers can also do outreach from home and distribute newsletters locally. Internships are available for those interested in biology and other science fields. Volunteers are also needed for fundraisers and special events. Please see the website for event notices and calendars: stfranciswildlife.org. Volunteers must sign a liability waiver. People under 18 are not permitted to work with animals. If you are interested in learning more, please attend a Behind the Scenes session on the first Saturday of the month from 12:00pm to 1:00pm at the hospital.

you will help empower communities, women and youth to become self-sufficient and team contributors. Visit villagevolunteers.org, email info@villagevolunteers.org, or call (206) 577-0515 for more information.

UNITED AGAIN INEQUITIES IN DISEASE

United Against Inequities in Disease (UAID) is a national non-profit student organization with over 2,500 members. UAID empowers students and communities across the United States to eliminate health inequities (unjust and preventable differences in health outcomes between groups of people). As a public health organization dedicated to long-term sustainability and impact, UAID leads innovative community projects throughout the country. These projects are a central aspect of each chapter's activities and include a community health needs assessment, collaborative program development, implementation, data collection, and evaluation. At a national level, UAID hosts an annual symposium, publishes a journal on health and social justice, and organizes webinars and trainings. Visit uaid.org for more details. In response to increasing demand, UAID will accept applications for new chapters on university campuses until midnight on October 5. Only ten applications will be approved. Please click the following link to apply: uaid.org/chapterapplication and e-mail info@uaid.org if you have any questions.

Change Corps is looking for talented Change-makers for their 1 year, paid, full-immersion training academy in grassroots organizing for activists. Organizers receive eight weeks of classroom training and spend most of the year gaining hands-on field experience working to make a difference on issues like women's rights, gun violence, immigration reform, voting rights, marriage equality, and money in politics. Organizers will work on three to five different campaigns throughout the year in cities across the country, providing critical field support for partner groups leading the charge on these issues and many more. The target annual compensation for this position is $25,000. Change Corps offers an excellent training program, a competitive benefits package, and has opportunities for advancement. They are looking for young leaders who are ready to take on some of the biggest challenges of the day; bright, talented, passionate people with a strong work ethic; problem solvers who don't just see problems, but envision creative solutions; a strong commitment to working toward goals and getting results; and outstanding verbal and written communication skills. Find out more information at www.change Corps.org or contact Claudia Iglesias, Recruitment Director at jobs@change Corps.org. The fall early application deadline is October 10.

This listserv contains information that is intended expressly for the convenience of its members, to advertise the latest involvement opportunities. Readers are encouraged to use their best judgment when selecting opportunities, as they are not screened prior to posting.
